Bio

Eric Coker is a Los Angeles–based showrunner, writer, pastor, and AI creator whose work centers Black men with specificity and care. His series explores toxic masculinity, desire, faith, and the cost of silence, while his music label, Mujistic, delivers AI-assisted scores spanning R&B, hip-hop, ambient, and worship. Coker approaches AI as a collaborator—transparent datasets, no style-cloning living artists, and cue sheets for ethics—keeping story and human performance at the core.
